DETAILED ACTION

1. This Action is in response to applicant's election of claims 9-16. Claims 1-8 and 17-20 have been canceled, and new Claims 21-32 are added.
2. Claims 9-16 and 21-32 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 9-16 and 21-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Deforche (US 2004/0258072), in view of Acharya (US 7,110,359).
5. As to claims 9, 21 and 29, Deforche discloses the invention as claimed, including an apparatus for improving utilization of a data link coupled to a network comprising:
 - one or more queues configured to hold data (page 4, 0064, "packet is enqueued");
 - a queue manager coupled to the queues and configured to dequeue the data from the queues and transfer the data onto the data link (fig. 2; page 4, 0065);
 - auxiliary queue logic coupled to the queue manager and configured to generate scores for one or more of the queues, the auxiliary queue logic further configured a scorecard of the generated scores and notify the queue manager of a queue associated with the highest score in the scorecard to cause the queue manager to dequeue data from the queue when the link becomes idle (page 2, 0026; page 3, 0041; page 4, 0067).

6. Although Deforche discloses generating scores, Deforche does not specifically disclose maintaining a scorecard of the generated scores. Acharya discloses maintaining a scorecard of the generated scores (col. 6, line 49 – col. 7, line 4). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine the teaching of Deforche and Acharya because Acharya's maintaining a scorecard would transmit data from the queue based on the stored weights, as taught by Acharya (col. 6, lines 61-65).

7. As to claim 10, Deforche discloses the apparatus as defined in claim 9 comprising:

calendar queue logic coupled to the auxiliary queue logic and configured to notify the auxiliary queue logic when the data link becomes idle (page 2, 0026; page 3, 0041; page 4, 0067).

8. As to claim 11, Deforche discloses the apparatus as defined in claim 9 comprising:

a scheduler coupled to the auxiliary queue logic and configured to maintain attribute information associated with the queues (page 4, 0067, "scheduler").

9. As to claims 12-14, 22-24, 30 and 31, Deforche discloses the apparatus as defined in claim 11 wherein the auxiliary queue logic is configured to acquire the attribute information associated with the queues from the scheduler and use the attribute information to generate scores for the queues (page 2, 0026; page 3, 0041; page 4, 0067).

10. As to claims 15, 16, 25-28 and 32, they are rejected for the same reasons set forth in claim 9 above. In addition, Deforche discloses a queue identifier (QID) field configured to hold a QID associated with a queue (figs. 5-8).

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Hill et al, US 7,296,288, Ni, US 7,042,843, Peisa et al, US 6,850,540, Lyles, et al, US 6,377,583, Wentink, US 2004/0071154, Wynne et al, US 6,687,781, Cloonan et al, US 7,272,144, disclose different priority flows are schedule to be routed to the destinations by factoring both the priority level and time spent in queue.
